Mr. John H. Cox, whose death occurred at Clover Hill on Saturday last, was buried Monday afternoon in the old family burying-ground at that place.

The deceased had been suffering from an attack of the grip, but had so far revered that he was able to be about. He had a relapse, however, resulting in paralysis of the side, which resulted in death. His loss is mourned among a large circle

The Hustings Court was in session yes terday hearing argument in the chancery suit of Pizzini against Alvis.

No decision was reached, so the case was adjourned over till to-day.

The counsel in the case are Messrs.

D. L. Pulliam and L. O. Wendenburg for the plaintiff, and Mr. Frank W. Christian and Malor A. B. Couriney for the deand Major A. R. Courtney for the defendant.

are practicing some beautiful Christmas music for next Sunday. The schedule on the Decatur-street line has been changed from thirteen to fifteen minutes.

Marie Tempest.

"The Algerian" with Marie Tempest, which is the attraction at the Academy of Music on Christmas-Day for an engagament matines and night performance, is the combined work of that famous American composer Reginald De Koven of "Robin Hood" and "Fencing Master" fame, and Glen McDonough, a rising fame, and Glen McDonough, a rising young author.

Marie Tempest will be seen in this city, in this opera for the first time. The idea of the story of the opera, which is in three acts, was suggested to Glen McDonough by an incident in Alphonse Daulet's recent work "The Tartarin of Tarascon," from which he has made a story, witty and entertaining in its lines, and brilliant in its lyric composition.

The music of "The Algerian," which is furnished by Reginald De Koven is distinctly melodious. It has the quality, which might be expected in Algerspanedo, the Oriental, with a flavor of psuedo, the Oriental, with a flavor of Paris, chants and quaint chords of the Orient abound.

Marie Tempest will be found exceedingly artistic in the role allotted to her in "The Algerian." The opera is beautifully mounted and gorgeously costum-ed.

In the company are Adele Ritchie,
Clara Thropp, Bertha Baylisa, Julius Steger, Joseph Herbert, Fred Hear, Ben Lodge, James Moffit, Walter Browne, and a chorus of bright and pretty girls.

The sale of seats will begin to-morrow

Death of Mr. H. L. D. Lewis,

BERRYVILLE, VA. Dec. 19.—Major H.
L. D. Lewis, one of the most prominent citizens of this county, died suddenly last night, about 12 e'clock, from Bright's disease, complicated with heart troubles. He attended church Sunday morning and evening, but he was not without warning, as several times within the past three weeks he had sinking spells which pointed to his sudden death. He represented Clarke county two terms in the Legislation of Virginia in a most efficient and Intelligent manner. He was also president, for four or five years, of the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society, at Wijschester, and aided largely in making its exhibitions a success. He served as a soldier in the Confederate cause with nicelity. He was a descendant of the Washington family, through the marriage of his grandfather to Neille Parke Curtis, and was the owner of the old Audley farm. As a neighbor and friend he was generous and true. He leaves a wife and nine children. His brother, the late Colonel E. P. C. Lewis, was minister to Portugal under the first Cleveland

Pound Party for the City Mission, It is thought advisable by the ladies of the mission to abandon the annual Xmas dinner for the poor, held at the Old Market, and substitute a pound party.

The main reason for this change is the increased number of the poor, and the impossibility of doing justice to all. The same amount contributed to a pound party can be much more judiciously distributed by the visitors in their several party can be much more judiciously dis-tributed by the visitors in their several districts. The City Mission House, 100 north Fourteenth street, will be open Thursday and Friday of this week, and a committee of ladies will be present to receive contributions of any kind, grocer-ies, provisions of every description, dry goods, bed-clothing, shoes, old clothes, will all be useful. The chidren in the city can help to give pleasure to the poor children by saving all their cast of toys, dolls, and picture-books, and carry them dolls, and picture-books, and carry then to the Mission House. Persons who prefer to contribute money can send it to any member of the City Mission.

The Couse of His Death.

Justice Larus and the coroner's jury investigated yesterday the manner in which J. W. Hughes met his death.

At 1 o'clock the inquest was held. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that death resulted from accidental causes.

Dr. Leftwitch is of the opinion that Hughes, while under the influence of liquor, attempted to get aboard the moving cars and was thrown upon his head, sustaining the wounds that probably caused his death. sustaining the caused his death.

The body was turned over to the county authorities for burial.

I talked to several of the jurymen, who said, while they were of the opinion that death resulted from accidental causes, still there was considerable ground for the suspicion of foul play.

Not very many drunks showed their faces in the Police Court yesterday morning. It took Justice Crutchfield only a little while to skip through the docket.
